ROCK ISLAND...Contracting professionals throughout the Midwest will gather April 12 – 13 at Moline’s iWireless Center for the third annual Midwest Small Business Government Contracting Symposium. Hosted by contracting experts from the Quad Cities, last year’s symposium drew over 500 attendees to the event. Attendance is open to small and large contractors, and those small businesses interested in learning how to participate in the Federal Government’s contracting system. Registration is limited to 500.

More than a dozen experts will present topics of particular interest to contractors. Representatives of several federal agencies will explain what they look for in a successful contractor. District Commanders from the United States Army Corps of Engineers, other federal agencies and contracting professionals at the Rock Island Arsenal will provide insight into their requirements.

The symposium will also feature extensive opportunities for networking as well as a trade-show exhibit. For exhibiting information contact patty@spiritpartners.inc.com

The fee for this year’s symposium ranges from $149 to $189. Details of the Midwest Government Contracting Small Business Symposium can be found online at www.ndia.ia-il.org
